CONNECTICUT, OCT. 8,

At a meeting of the inhabitants of the town of Stamford, legally warned and convened on the 7th day of October, 1774.

The inhabitants of this town, sensibly affected by the distresses, to which the town of Boston and province of Massachusetts Bay, are subjected by several late unconstitutional acts of the British parliament, and also viewing the Quebec bill, whereby the Roman Catholic religion is established over a great part of his Majesty's extensive continent of America, as an attempt, not barely to destroy our civil liberties, but as an open declaration that our religious privileges, which our fathers fled their native country to enjoy, are very soon to be abolished, --(hoping to convince the people of this extensive continent, that, not withstanding our long silence, we are by no means unwilling to join with our sister towns to assert our just rights, and oppose every design of a corrupt ministry to enslave America)--do declare, that we acknowledge our subjection to the Crown of Great Britain, and all the constitutional powers thereto belonging, as established in the illustrious House of Hanover; and that it if our earnest desire that the same peaceable connection should subsist between us and the mother country, that has subsisted for a long time before the late unconstitutional measures adopted by Parliament of Great Britain; and we hope that some plan will be ground out by the General Congress to effect the reconciliation we wish for. Yet we are determined, in every lawful way, to join with our sister colonies, resolutely to defend our just rights, and oppose all illegal and unconstitutional acts of the British Parliament that respect America.

That we are pleased that a congress of deputies from the colonies is now met at Philadelphia, and relying upon the wisdom of that body, we declare that we are ready to adopt such reasonable measures as shall by them be judged for the general good of the inhabitants of America.

Resolved, That Messrs. John Lloyd and Samuel Hulton, Capt. Samuel Young, Capt. David Hait, and Charles, Weed, be a committee to receive subscriptions for the supply of the poor in the town of Boston, who suffer in consequence of an act of Parliament called the Port Act; and that the said committee cause any thing that shall be collected, to be transported to the care of the committee of ways and means in the town of Boston, to be employed by them as they shall think fit.

The above is a true copy of record, it being a very full meeting:-- almost an unanimous vote.

Taft: S. JARVIS, Town Clerk.

The Flying Machine

Still continues, and sets out every Monday and Thursday morning, from Powles-hook ferry opposite New-York, and from the sign of the cross keys in Philadelphia, at the corner of Third and Chestnut-Streets and meet at Princeton the same nights exchange, passengers, and return the next day to Powles-Hook ferry and Philadelphia, so as to perform the journey in two days. The price for each passenger if twenty one shillings, and goods as usual, only each passenger allowed 14 lbs. The passengers are desired to cross over the ferry to Powles-Hook the evening before, as the stages set off early.

It is hoped that this very expensive undertaking will meet with encouragement from all Ladies and Gentlemen, as they may depend upon punctual performance, by the public's most obliged servants,

JOHN MERCEREAU

Philadelphia, Oct. 6

By a Letter from St. Vincent's of the sixth of September, we are informed that Orders had been issued by Brigadier Dalrymple, for the 14th Regiment to embark on the 16th, and to sail on the 20th, to relieve the 29th Battalion in Garrison at St. Augustine. The 31st Regiment was ordered to embark for New-York on the 25th. Sunday last arrived the Earl of Halifax packet, Capt. ### To the PRINTER:

SIR, New-York, Oct. 11, 1774
The yearly epifitiles of the Quakers though printed and dispersed among the society of Friends, are seen by very few of other denominations. The following paragraphs of an epifite from the annual meeting held at Philadelphia dated the first inst. Express sentiments which do honour to that society, and deserve to be considered by every man; as such they may merit a place in your paper. A Lover of Peace.

"And beloved friends, we beseech you in brotherly affection to remember, that under divine providence we are indebted to the King and his royal ancestors, for the continued favour of enjoying our religious liberties, we are under deep obligations, to manifest our loyalty and fidelity and that we should discourage every attempt which may be made by any to excite disaffection or disrespect to him, and particularly to manifest our dislike of all such writing as are, or may be published of that tendency. And as it hath ever been our practice since we were a people, frequently to advise all professing with us to be careful not to defraud the King of his customs or duties, nor to be concerned in dealing in goods unlawfully imported; we find it necessary now most earnestly to exhort that the same care may be continued with faithfulness and diligence, and that Friends keep clear of purchasing any such goods, either for sale or private use; that so we may not be any way instrumental in countenancing or promoting the iniquity, false swearing, and violence, which are the common consequences of an unlawful and clandestine trade. May we therefore wisely determine rather to forebear the use of such things, as we have just grounds to believe are imported in that manner, and by this and every other part of our conduct, give a public testimony of our sincere desire that we may submit to the just administration of the laws, agreeable to our Christian principles, and that our submission to any measures, imposed by the violence of parties, if not with our consent; for some we fear have not sufficiently considered the imminent danger of allowing any temporal considerations to influence them to depart from temporal whole some regulations and limitation of the law under which we have enjoyed protection and peace."

PARIS, JULY 18.

FOR some days past strict silence has been kept on the affairs of Parliament. M. de Sartine, hath it is said, received orders for above, which he has sent to all the coffee houses and other public places, that no person talk, either good or bad, of the public affairs; so that we are at a loss what to think. We wait with great impatience for an explanation from the King, on an object which is essentially interests the whole nation.

From Poland, July 18. Letters of good authority have been received here, which inform us, that the Turks have absolutely broken up the negotiations for a peace, and that Count Romanzow has dispatched an express to Baron Szaekelberg, Russian minister at Warfaw, to inform him of it.

From Prussia, July 22. According to our last letter from Dantzic, every thing there is very quiet, but it is supposed that it will soon be followed by a terrible reverse. The inhabitants say they will defend themselves to the last, but it if much feared when the Prussians come against them in earnest, they must soon submit.

London, July 30

A CORRESPONDENT informs us, that some very disagreeable accounts have arrived of the Spanish having attacked the Portuguese settlements in South America; in consequence of which a requisition had been made by the Court of Lisbon to Great Britain for assistance.

August 6. Advice was yesterday received, that a French frigate having got on the fishing banks at Newfoundland, was ordered off by an English one; and upon refusal an engagement ensued. When the Frenchman was obliged to strike, after having her masts shot away.

The person who went down to Portsmouth to weigh up the vessel which was sunk with Mr. Day in her, has found where the vessel lies, and Dayers himself, that within a week he shall bring her up. Betts are depending whether Mr. Day will be found in it or not.

A Correspondent who has through knowledge of the proceedings in America, assures us, that the whole line of colonies are now forming a Congress of Deputies, who will be empowered to settle some uniform mode of resistance against the measures of Administration. Whether they will first try a Remonstrance, or not, is uncertain but that a non importation and non exportation will universally take place, sooner or later, if most evident and indisputable.

The King of Prussia has sent a declaration to every Court of Europe, setting forth that the Polish republic have commenced a war with him, and executed hostilities against his troops at Compiela.

It is said that orders are given for two frigates to cruise off Cape Finifterre and Cape Ortegai, to watch the motions of the Spanish Fleet.
